Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

Just a few Fair echoes:

Some here in Washington C. H. say the Fair slows up business. . . Charles (Turkey) Bryant checked his cash register and found that last week was the biggest week he had ever had in his West Court Street restaurant . . . and he's been in business 22 years. . . here's the way he figured it. . . there are three cash registers in the restaurant. . . they register, not every individual sale, but only every time a ticket is paid. . . and some tickets may represent several sales. . . and they range all the way from a nickel to several dollars. . . last week the cash register bells rang 10,596 times. . . how many sales does that represent? . . . there's no way of telling. . . but it's a cinch the total is many times that.

Saturday afternoon racing of the regulation variety was something new for the Fair this year. . . the directors were admittedly skeptical and had their fingers crossed as they hoped. . . it was something of an experiment. . . exact figures are not yet available but the ticket sellers estimated that there were approximately 1,000 paid admissions Saturday afternoon. . . and that made a crowd about twice as big as most of the Fair Board had anticipated. . . not that the program hadn't been built up worth it. . . but, not many of the board had figured the folks would come out on the last day. . . no matter how good the program.

Ray Brandenburg, the president of the Fair Board, Monday morning bright and early, called the Record-Herald office. . . he said: "Will you do something for me? . . . on behalf of the board, I want to thank all of the committees that helped make the Fair such a success this year. . . they all did just swell. . . and we really appreciate their cooperation. . . without them the board just couldn't have put on such a Fair. . . it would be impossible to see and thank each one of them personally. . . and besides, the board wants to express its appreciation of their help publicly."

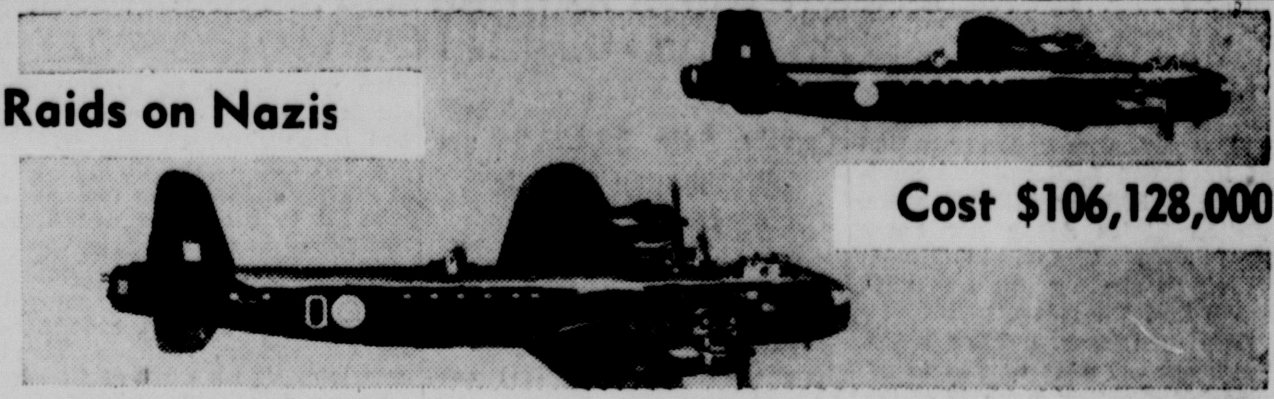

All week at the Fair I had a feeling that something was wrong. . . something was missing. . . finally, on the last day it came to me. . . I had been missing the old bell at the race starter's stand. . . in its place was a modern buzzer to call the horses back from a false start. . . now I suppose that's all right and I wouldn't want to criticize anything that brought as much pleasure to the folks as that bell did. . . but, I missed that old bell. . . to me it was sort of symbolic of the Fair races. . . ever since I was a kid I have associated it with the Fair. . . it sort of rings in a dream whenever I get to talking about the Fair. . . remember how you heard it clang. . . and how the horses scored and scored and the bell clanged and clanged? . . . I don't know where that old bell is, but I wish they'd hunt it up and put it back. . . if for nothing else than to call the horses out to the track for the races.

Too bad more city kids can't get to these good old county fairs. . . I was taking in the hog show when a youngster from Columbus came along with his father. . . looking into a pen in which there was an old sow and a litter of sleek little pigs, he said: "O dad, look at the big family in this apartment."

Of all the attractions at the Fair, there's always one that has never lost its glitter for me. . . the barker. . . the speiler for the sideshows. . . the one that put it on in front of the freaks of nature here this year was a artist he simply fascinated me. . . I'll bet he could have sold the Brooklyn bridge and named his own price.

Regrets: that more people in this farm community don't take in the agricultural exhibits and other displays. . . I still believe that a livestock show could be developed into something really big if it was put on with a lot of flash and fanfare. . . a parade in front of the grandstand. . . with the judging where all can see.

Fate of Nazi Spies Decided But Only They Know Verdict

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(P)—The White House said today that it expected the findings of the Military Commission which tried alleged German saboteurs to be delivered to the President during the day.

Presumably the military tribunal's recommendations will not be made public until they have been reviewed by the Chief Executive. Mr. Roosevelt is expected to withhold his approval until he has had time to look thoroughly into the records of the trial.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said he believed the Military Commission's findings would be delivered to the White House today and he declared they would be placed before the President "as soon as possible."

The defendants and government and defense counsel were summoned before the commission again as it met in the Justice building today after private sessions Saturday afternoon and yesterday.

Savage Fighting Renewed In New Guinea Jungles As Jap Base Reinforced

(By The Associated Press)

The battle for position in the far Pacific flared anew in savage jungle fighting in New Guinea and efforts of a special Japanese fighter force to wipe out American air units in China.

Newly massed Japanese planes said the outcome was favorable to the Americans, but there were no immediate details from the headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell who said the Japanese lost 17 and probably 21 planes in their first big attack on the airdrome last Thursday and Friday.

Meanwhile, unconfirmed reports were heard in Chungking that Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, Japan's German-trained conqueror of Malaya, had gone to Manchukuo "possibly to take up the supreme command there in preparation for an attack on Siberia."

SHUNGKING, Aug. 3.—(P)—Unconfirmed reports reaching Chungking today said that Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, Japan's German-trained conqueror of Malaya, had gone to Manchukuo "possibly to take up the supreme command there in preparation for an attack on Siberia."

MAN LIVES 19 DAYS WITH SEWED HEART

But Strain Too Great and He Finally Succumbs

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(P)—Although they had given him a 50-50 chance for recovery, the odds proved too great for the stout heart of Stanley Kolbusz.

Stitched seven times after the 19-year-old Holyoke, Mass., war plant worker was stabbed the night of July 14 by three men who escaped, his heart also had to combat double pneumonia which set in after a rare and delicate operation.

During the operation, Dr. Edward Finestone at Sydenham Hospital used Stanley's own blood, caught up in sponges, for a transfusion.

Last night, the overburdened heart ceased beating.

The first five mass raids on four German cities cost the British $106,128,000, according to unofficial estimates, but it was believed that the German production machine suffered a loss of more than $2,000,000,000 from the raids. The Central Press layout above shows clearly how the costs of sending 4,250 bombers, like those shown, top, on the raids were distributed.

$120 STORAGE BILL ON CAR DONATED TO SCRAP PILE FOR WAR

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—(P)—After the War Production Board asked Mrs. Joseph Bauknecht of Cleveland if she would donate her automobile for scrap, a garage in suburban Shaker Heights presented her with a $120 storage bill.

All this was very confusing to Mrs. Bauknecht, who had not heard of her car since she reported it stolen about a year ago.

Investigation of records in the suburb showed the car had been recovered three days after being reported stolen, but no one had notified Mrs. Bauknecht.

The storage bill has been reduced to $10, but Mrs. Bauknecht still has not made up her mind what to do.

ALLIED AIR ATTACK SLOWED BY WEATHER

Cross-channel Assaults Are on Small Scale

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(P)—German raiders slipped through Britain's air defenses shortly after noon on one of their rare daylight bombing attacks.

Their target was a northeast coast town. Some property damage was caused there.

Their enemy planes were said to be elsewhere over England.

Scattered Nazi air stabs over Britain last night were reported to have cost the raiders three bombs and to have caused no serious damage or casualties.

Spitfires on offensive patrol attacked railway targets and barges in the Nazi-occupied low countries yesterday afternoon, the air ministry announced.

Unfavorable weather over the continent meanwhile kept Britain's big bomber fleet from renewing its offensive against Germany.

PEACE TO BE SOUGHT BY CIO PRESIDENT

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3.—(P)—The possibility of a reconciliation between the congress of industrial organizations and the American Federation of Labor was revived today by a proposal of CIO President Philip Murray for renewal of peace negotiations.

Murray wrote William Green, president of the AFL, that he had named a CIO peace committee of three and asked Green to appoint a similar AFL group to of organic unity between our organizations.

There was no immediate reply from Green. The AFL executive council meets tomorrow in Chicago, but there was no announcement whether it would consider Murray's proposal.

Previous peace efforts in 1937 and 1939 failed.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—(P)—Struck as he rode a bicycle along Rocky River Drive, 13-year-old Michael Feighan, Jr., son of the attorney who is seeking to unseat Rep. Martin L. Sweeney in the 20th district Democratic primary, was killed by an automobile late Saturday.

CANADA RATIONS TEA

OTTAWA.—(P)—Canada began rationing tea and coffee today. Each person, over 12 years, is allowed 12½ cups a week. The quota is based on an ounce of tea or four ounces of coffee a week—but not both.

INDUSTRIAL SUGAR RATIONS INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(P)—Increased sugar allotments granted industrial and institutional users for July and August will be extended through September and October, the office of Price Administration announced today.

The increased quotas give industrial consumers 80 percent of their normal supply, instead of 70 percent, and institutional users are granted a 25 percent increase to boost their allotments to 75 percent of normal.

BODIES OF U. S. SOLDIERS WASHED ASHORE ON NOVA SCOTIA—MYSTERY

DIGBY, Nova Scotia, Aug. 3.—(Canadian Press)—The bodies of two United States soldiers and an unidentified man have been washed ashore in the past few days on islands at the tip of Digby Neck, a narrow peninsula jutting some 35 miles into the Bay of Fundy.

The bodies of other United States service men have been washed ashore along these waters in recent weeks, but names of the men have not been made public.

Farm Production Goal Is Greatest on Record

Wartime Agricultural Program Calling for More and More Food Likely To Be Achieved, Analysis by Livestock, Grain And Produce Trade Experts Reveals

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(P)—The nation's first wartime agricultural production goal, calling for the greatest American farm output on record to meet United Nations' food demands, is likely to be achieved, an analysis by livestock, produce and grain trade experts indicated today.

The 1942 output of some commodities may fall slightly below that sought under the program assigned farmers shortly after Pearl Harbor, while some goals are being exceeded.

At least, the American agricultural production machine is over the hump in its effort this year. Farmers have been greatly aided by unusually favorable weather, except in a few sections, and crop damage has been at a minimum. Furthermore, fields and pastures throughout most of the nation now are in good condition because of excellent precipitation to continue the drive toward even greater production in 1943. New agricultural goals are expected to be announced soon.

The accompanying table shows actual agricultural achievement this year compared with the goals established early in the season. In the case of crops, acreages now standing for harvest are given and in many instances high yields to a large extent will make up for smaller acreage than last year or failure to reach acreage goals assigned. As result, actual production may be near or better than last year.

In the case of milk and egg production as well as livestock slaughter, approximate achievement for the first six months is shown. By doubling these figures a rough estimate of output for the full year is available, although this does not hold true in some cases of seasonally smaller production the last half of the year.

Milk, billion pounds	125	62.1 (x)	116.5
Eggs, billion dozens	4.2	2.4 (x)	3.7
Hogs, million head slaughter	83	40.3 (x)	72.5

U-Boat Menace Solution Is Promised By Inventor

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(P)—Simon Lake, veteran submarine designer and builder, promised to lay before a senate military subcommittee today the solution of the U-boat menace.

Lake, who said he had been called before a committee that has been seeking to step up production of aerial fighters, declared that as one of the inventors of the modern submarine he knew "what the Axis nations can do with it."

"For 30 years," he said, "I have warned that battleships, cruisers, destroyers, patrol boats of any kind, even airplanes, could not effectively stop its destructive toll of ships, their crews and cargoes."

"I say now that we have not yet seen the full fury of the submarines—such as will probably descend upon us in the days to come."

"I have refrained from making public some of my plans, fearing our enemies would use them against us, but from information recently received and from evidence of enemy opera-

Hitler's Army, However, Is

Adolf Hitler's Russian offensive appeared today to be losing impetus against slowly tightening Russian defenses at the Don bend approach to Stalingrad and along the last rail line to the oil fields of the Caucasus as the Red army lashed back in a new show of strength.

Along the whole 300-mile arc from Kletskaia, 80 miles north-

NAZI LINES BLASTED

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—(P)—Aided by divebombers which hammered crawling columns of fresh thousands of German men and vehicles, the Red army declared today that it had repulsed the Germans in all the vital sectors except south of Rostov where "severe defensive" battles were being waged.

west of Stalingrad, to Kuschchevka, 50 miles south of Rostov, the Russians still were on the defensive; but the strengthening of their stand was indicated by counter-attacks which they reported hurled the Germans back with losses of 6,000 dead in a single day.

Don and Kuban Cossacks led the counter-attacks in the critical salients of Kuschchevka and Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, in the first intimation that the big garrison of the North Caucasus may have been thrown into the fight.

It was in this sector that the Germans made their deepest penetration into the Northern Caucasus.

The German high command said one of its tank columns was "nearing the upper course of the Kuban River."

How far the Nazis were from the northern curve of the river was not specified.

The Kuban rises in the western glaciers of Elbrus, the highest peak in Europe, and curves to the north within 70 miles of Salsk before turning west to empty through a broad, marshy delta into the Black Sea just south of the Strait of Kerch.

The Germans said the Russian rear guard was being forced south from the Yeya River which runs through Kuschchevka to Taganrog Bay, the northeastern arm of the Sea of Azov. The Berlin communique said other German forces which crossed the Don south of Tsimlyansk were rolling the Russians back to the east, between the Sal and Don rivers. This would indicate a German effort to widen their Caucasian

Ship Sinkings

(By The Associated Press)

Nine ships announced last week to have been sunk by submarines in the western Atlantic and another victim disclosed yesterday brought to 408 today the Associated Press unofficial tabulation of Allied and neutral wartime merchant losses in the area.

The latest announced sinking was that of a medium-sized Russian cargo carrier July 4 in the Gulf of Mexico.

Three American ships, two Brazilian, one British, one Mexican, one Panamanian and one Nicaraguan were included in last week's sinking announcements.

Four of these went down off the U. S. east coast making that area's war total 166; three off South America made a total of 26 in those waters and one each off Canada and in the Gulf of Mexico boosted those figures to 41 and 38, respectively. No reported Caribbean sinkings left the toll there at 137.

American-born Countess Does Allied Unity No Good By Speech

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World News Service)
Viscountess Astor, America's contribution to the British House of Commons, sounded a rather sour note when she remarked in a speech that she is "grateful to the Russians, but they are not fighting for us. They are fighting for themselves."

Having been acquainted with Lady Nancy for many years, I'm confident that she had no intention of damaging Allied unity. However, one of her outstanding characteristics is that she gives a loose rein to a frequently brilliant but often caustic and indiscreet tongue. Certainly her comment was ill-chosen at a moment when the Bolsheviks are standing between the Allies and a catastrophe which might mean total defeat for us.

Of course the Russians are fighting for Russia. So is Britain fighting for Britain, and America for America, in this conflict for survival. It would be a most unhappy circumstance, though, if this were the only viewpoint from which we could consider the alliance that is battling the Axis which would destroy us.

Surely we haven't reached the point where it's every man for himself in this crisis. If we are to have the strength and inspiration to fight this thing through to the new world which we envisage, it must be one for all and all for one. So, in the broad sense, the Russians are fighting for us and we are fighting them—and it's grand to feel that this is so.

It isn't difficult to see what may have been in Lady Astor's mind. Communism has been a thorn in England's side ever since the ism was born and the Bolsheviks set out to try to Sovietize that country. A good many Britons therefore regard Moscow with stern suspicion. The situation has been somewhat similar in this country.

But most statesmen seem to have arrived at the conclusion that it isn't necessary for Allied countries to accept the political doctrine of Communism in order to make a perfect war alliance with Russia.

We don't do ourselves or our cause any good, by adopting the cynical viewpoint that the Russians are fighting only to save their own skins. Whatever their motive, they have been dying by hundreds of thousands to defeat an enemy who not only is trying to destroy them but to destroy Britain and America and the rest of the Allies as well.

This is a particularly unhappy moment for invidious remarks, when the Reds are calling for the establishment of a second front to ease their terrific burden. To tell them that they aren't fighting for us must make them wonder whether there's a tendency on the part of the Allies to give them a stone when they ask for bread.

Still, the experienced minds in Moscow will understand that their Allies will provide that second front as soon as it is feasible, and will provide help for Russia just as eagerly as they would for their own people. The Allied leadership has made it clear that we don't intend to let somebody else fight our war for us. So far as we're concerned it's one for all and all for one in this show.

SALVAGE TRUCKS START TUESDAY IN RURAL AREA

Every Citizen Is Urged To Collect Every Ounce Of Scrap

Salvage trucks manned by WPA workers and others, under the direction of the federal government, will Tuesday morning start a house-to-house canvass of Fayette County to collect every possible ounce of metals and rubber, and every citizen is urged to cooperate fully and make an honest effort as part of their patriotic contribution to winning the war, by collecting the scrap about their premises.

Be ready for the government trucks when they appear to obtain the scrap metal and rubber, is the request.

The metal and rubber will be weighed and paid for on the spot, government certificates on the treasury being used for payment, and these will be handled through banks and the usual business channels.

Maynard Craig, salvage chairman for Fayette County, is requesting full co-operation of all citizens, and stresses the fact that there is a most urgent need for all scrap iron, steel, other metals, and rubber, and asks everyone to do their part in making the drive for salvage materials, a success.

It is indicated that 90 percent of the salvage material is in the rural areas, and for this reason the house to house visitation—which is being carried forward throughout the nation, is now underway. It is hoped to have millions of tons of metals and further large quantities of rubber available at the end of the drive.

Postmaster W. E. Passmore reported Monday that during the month of July, 4,568 motor vehicle tax stamps, required by the federal government, had been sold at the office, and that $22,840 had been paid for the stamps.

During January when the first stamps were sold, the total number sold at the Post Office here was 5,068.

However more persons purchased stamps from other post-offices during July than they did in January, it is believed.

GUARDS RETURN FROM TRAINING IN HILL AREA

Find Training Difficult but All Enjoyed Stay at Camp Zaleski

Special Weapons Company of the Ohio State Guard, returned home Sunday noon, from Camp Zaleski after a week's strenuous training, which included everything from studying guerrilla tactics with a night's maneuvers in the woods, to machine gun and trench gun practice.

Captain W. B. Hyer, commander of the company, a veteran of many training camps, said that the training was "difficult" but his men withstood it and enjoyed the experience very much.

Meals were cooked in the open and the camp was more or less primitive generally, but the outdoor life and training added greatly to the efficiency of the company here.

Additional shotguns for trench use were distributed to the company while camp was under way.

In one instance the company started maneuvers at 8 P. M. and returned to camp at 2 A. M., passing some six miles through timberland, and in the darkness, in order to maintain contact, it was necessary to keep almost hand in hand.

Some of the men qualified in each of the three classifications of marksmanship.

The general health of the personnel was good with exception of two members who had the intestinal flu before they left for camp and suffered severely part of the time at camp.

The company worked with a number of others encamped at Zaleski at the same time.

have moved fresh forces down the coast from Lae, 165 miles to the north, but there was no indication that the original force of some 2,500 men which the Japanese landed at Buna, July 22, had been reinforced by sea.

A communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said fighting continued after Allied troops routed Japanese outposts near Kokoda, 60 miles from Port Moresby but separated from the Allied port by the towering Owen Stanley range.

The War Bulletin said Allied bombers set fire to Japanese supply dumps in the Kokoda area, indicating that the invaders were moving up material to build bases or bolster a thrust farther across the peninsula.

In China, Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced that 119 Japanese planes apparently a new concentration of improved fighters—participated in a 36-hour attack on the United States Army Air Force base at Hengyang, in Hunan Province, starting before day-break last Thursday.

The Americans, fighting sometimes against odds of two to 23, reported shooting down 17 of the attackers and probably destroying four others.

In land fighting, the Chinese high command said its troops recaptured Tsingting, 22 miles north of the Chekiang coast port of Wenchow and several other strategic points just west of Wenchow. In some places fighting was raging on the outskirts of the latter, a Japanese-held town.

Tsingting, captured by the Japanese July 29, has changed hands four times in fighting along the coast.

India's position in the broad picture of the struggle for South-east Asia was regarded as increasingly precarious as Mohandas K. Gandhi declared that Britain's failure to heed India's demands for immediate independence would cause some elements to welcome a Japanese invasion.

The wizened little Nationalist leader expressed his determination to go ahead with his projected campaign of non-violent opposition to British rule.

The All-India Congress party is expected to reach a final decision Friday on whether to join in the campaign which would impede the entire operation of Allied defense forces guarding India.

HOUSTON EVANS LOSES BIG BARN EARLY SUNDAY

Former Resident Sustains Heavy Loss in Fire Near Hillsboro

Houston Evans, who moved from the Booco land in Jefferson Township to a large farm he purchased south of Hillsboro, in the spring of 1941, sustained heavy loss, Sunday morning, when his large dairy and hay barn was destroyed by fire, including 50 tons or more of hay, and much farm equipment.

Evans had been baling hay in Jefferson Township and shipping it to his farm where it was stored in the big barn.

About five A. M. Sunday morning the structure caught fire, apparently from spontaneous combustion, and a short time later was a mass of flames.

Evans was with relatives at Pleasant View at the time, so his son hurried to the barn and succeeded in saving a farm truck, but was driven back by flames and could not remove any of the machinery stored in the structure.

The barn was insured but the loss of the structure and contents is much above the insured value, it is understood.

County Gets $3,466.25 and Washington C. H. Is Given $1,125

Fayette County and the various districts in the county, share in the final distribution of 1941 motor vehicle license revenues just announced by Cylon W. Wallace, registrar of motor vehicles of the Ohio Department of Highways.

This distribution—the subdivisions' shares, going to counties, cities and villages—amounts to $2,664,075.60 while a five percent equalization fund, totaling $264,000, or an average of $3,000 per county goes to each of 88 counties.

The distribution of auto license fees to the different taxing districts here, as returned by the Ohio Department of Highways, at the instance of Hal G. Sours, director, follows:

Handicap Trot Features Wind-up of Fair Races

Harness Horse Hoofbeats

By BOB KENEFFICK

Sunday was moving day for harness horses which have been performing at Old Orchard for the past two weeks. The majority of the trotters and pacers were shipped to Saratoga where the Grand Circuit holds forth from Monday through Saturday, with races under the lights on the half-mile oval.

There are over $37,000 in stakes and, with the overnight races, better than $40,000 to be distributed. There will be at least a $5,000 event every day except Saturday, with the top event the $7,000 Stallion Stake for 3-year-old trotters on Monday night.

From Saratoga the Big Liners go to Goshen for the Hambletonian on Aug. 12 and then the next week, starting August 17, return to Saratoga for the Fox Stake worth about $16,000 and the Horseman Stake for two-year-trotters worth $15,000.

The horses not shipped to Saratoga moved to Goshen, to Maine cities for the fair races or to Westbury. Among the horses shipped to Goshen were those in the barns of Fred Egan and Tom Berry and a half dozen from Ben White's stable.

The meeting at Old Orchard the first week was one of the greatest in history and Charles Phellis of Greenwich, Conn., the man behind the guns here, is to be congratulated upon his fine show. The racing has been excellent and the mutual handle, the greatest in Maine's history. On July 25, (Saturday) the handle was better than $36,000 which broke the old mark of $43,000 for a single day.

The track was well taken care of by Harry McKenney, who also did an excellent job of starting. There were many photo finishes. The second week's weather was such that only four heats were raced in as many days.

The race meetings to be held the week of August 3 follow: Saratoga, Roosevelt Raceway, Charleston, Ill.; Coffeyville, Kans.; Caledonia, N. Y.; Muncie, Ind.; Osgood, Ind.; Xenia, Ohio; Chippewa Falls, Wis.; Boonville, Ind.; Fowlerville, Mich.

The Fox Stake is now worth $15,340 while the Horseman Stake is worth $13,035. My Birthday and The Abbot split first money in the Maine Pacing Derby, each standing 1-4 in the summary.

Some new marks for the Old Orchard meet are His Honor 1:59 3-4, My Birthday 2:00, The Abbot 2:00 1-2, Lucy Hanover 2:01 3-4, Colby Hanover 2:03, Green Diamond 2:04 3-4, Voloway 2:03 3-4, The Ambassador 2:07, Gem Hanover 2:08 1-2, Volo Song 2:07, Toro 2:07 1-2, Fez Hanover 2:03 3-4, Willie Hope 2:04 1-2, Lone Ace bobbed up here and despite his ten years showed his heels to Maine wiggles in the 11 bar pace. Doc Marshall got a severe sunburn and he looked like a clown in a circus with the white paste he put on his face. There was not a drop of rain the first week here but it poured all day Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday it was cloudy. Phonograph, the highest priced yearling of 1941 ($7,000) has been worked in 15 1-2 by Tommy Berry but he won't start him for several weeks at least. There will be racing at the Pittsfield, Plymouth, Hopkinton, Lancaster and Rochester, N. H. Fairs this fall according to word received here. Gay Song, Love Song and Volo Song, clever horses, are all by Volomite-Evensong—a well bred family. There are twelve heats July 25 at Old Orchard and the average time was 2:03 which shows how fast the kite track is this season. Henry Thomas distributed the list of fouls of 1941 at the Hanover Shoe Farms to be sold at Harrisburg in Nov. There are 84 in the lot. Henry is high on Calvin Hanover, a bay colt by Red Ace and Gay Direct.

Spectacular Event With 16-Horse Field Starts Out in Rain

Saturday Program Interrupted by Shower but Complete 10-Heat Card Finished Before 8 P. M., After Track Dries Out—Home-bred Horse and Driver Get in Money

Harness horse racing fans of Fayette County today were still talking about the races at the Fair last week, with most of it centering on the handicap trot, the feature of the Saturday program and generally conceded to be far and away the most spectacular horse race ever held on the half-century-old track here.

A drenching downpour of rain that came just as the horses were lined up behind the five barriers for the start, which was delayed for several minutes by a mix-up of numbers on the horses' bridles and the programs, only added to the general excitement.

Strictly an innovation here and something that few of the nearly 2,000 spectators packed in the old grandstand had ever seen before, the event brought 16 horses to the track to mill about in what at first seemed to be utter confusion to everyone except the veteran starter, Steve G. Phillips.

Two of the horses were started from scratch—right at the wire. Six, which were rated just a little faster by the handicapper, started behind an elastic barrier 40 feet behind them. Five more were lined up 80 feet back and two more, the best of the field, were 100 feet.

The horses were sent on their way from a standing start, very much the same as are the runners, by the word "go" from the starter.

The race had all the appearance of a wild melee, especially as they went into the first turn through the driving rain. But, to the confessed amazement of nearly everyone in the crowd, waiting with bated breath, there was not a single accident in the jammed track.

Two drivers, Shilling with Prince Oakie and Cartnel with Volarian, gave it up after the first half mile and pulled out the gap and went to the barn, soaked to the skin and covered with mud, in the first heat.

Gray Don, a bay gelding by Sir Laurel Guy, led the big field almost from wire to wire to win the opening canto in a driving finish, through mud and rain, about a length in front of Kathryn Lad and Conchita, which battled the leader down the stretch for the place and show.

The handicap was the third race on the afternoon's card and when it was over it seemed for a time that that would wind up the sport for the day—and the season. But, with harrows and drags working steadily on the track for about two hours, racing was resumed at a little after 5 P. M. and the program of 10 heats was completed by about 7:30 P. M.

So much interest was there in the racing that few left the stand to go home for the evening meal. Sister Guy, a bay mare by San Guy, owned by A. G. Gordon, who raised her on his Fayette County farm, won the second heat of the handicap and then came back to finish second, a half length back of Gray Don, in the last heat.

McElwyn Volo and Royal Charm were both drawn after the first heat.

The first division of the 2:19 trot was taken by Mary Martini, a bay mare by Martini, owned by Russell, the Alabamian who took the

Double Bill With Braves Split by Reds

BUFFALO, Aug. 3—(P)—Homeward bound from an eastern trip on which they won seven and lost six, the Cincinnati Reds stopped here for an exhibition game tonight with the Buffalo Bisons.

The Redlegs divided a double-header and the four-game series at Baston yesterday, losing the first game 7-0 and gaining their 14th victory in 18 starts against the Braves by a 4-2 score in the nightcap.

Al Javery, who had lost three straight for the Reds, whitewashed them on five hits—three by Bert Haas—in the opener. Max West's 400-foot home run with the bases filled decided the contest in the first frame. West's blow came before Elmer Riddle had retired a man and followed a single, walk and bunt.

Paul Derringer survived 11 Boston safeties in the nightcap. The Reds broke a string of 23 scoreless innings to help Derringer to his sixth victory in the seventh frame. Eric Tipton homered with one out; Frank Kelleher walked; Frank McCormick fouled for the second out, then Eddie Joost knocked his fifth homer of the year.

Softball Leagues Swing Back into Action after Fair

After a week's vacation during Fair week, the nightly softball games were scheduled to be resumed Monday night when the Presbyterians will play the Church of Christ at 7 P. M. in the Church League and the Fayette Grange will play the American Legion at 8:30 P. M. in the Industrial League.

One game will be played Tuesday night between Selden Grange and Light's Dairy beginning around 8:15 P. M. In the new league schedules, in order to get them completed by the time the city schools start again, league games will also be played on Friday nights.

For 41 years we have maintained one Standard—to serve all—regardless of cost.

WHEN CHIPS ARE DOWN

Baseball Opportunity

Three-day Camp for Ambitious Youths To Try Out for Chance in Professional Game in Columbus August 21

Baseball—that is the regular old fashioned kind played with a hard ball—has to take a seat back behind softball here in Washington C. H. where for the past several years softball leagues have brought out boys, and girls, too, by the score. But, out through the rural sections of the county and in the villages, the story is somewhat different. There they still play baseball.

Once in a while, one of the boys from some cross-roads teams turns out to be what is commonly known as a "natural"—that is, he has that intangible something that makes him a natural ball player. Others are close enough to be developed if they have the determination. Those boys go on to make baseball a career and if they succeed, they make big money.

Opportunity is knocking again for these ambitious boys here once more. The annual try-out camp of the Columbus Red Birds will be held at their Stadium August 21, 22 and 23. The three-day camp is open to boys who have reached their 17th birthday and who have played on school, Legion or sandlot baseball teams.

The camp will be conducted under the supervision of Columbus and St. Louis Cardinal scouts and will enable young players seeking to make baseball their careers the opportunity to qualify for a contract. Boys qualifying will be tendered contracts with clubs of the St. Louis Cardinal organization.

Enrollees in the camp are expected to provide their uniforms, including shoes, gloves etc., and are also required to furnish their transportation and living arrangements. However, boys who are signed to contracts will be refunded traveling and living expenses while in camp.

Several boys from Fayette County have had a whirl at the Red Bird school in the past but whether there are any hereabouts now, who feel they are good enough or who are baseball-minded enough to want to try it only the enrollment will tell.

The war has had a jolting effect on baseball here just the same as it has in the rest of the country, so many of the energetic and athletic youths have gone into the service.

Battle Royal Marks AA in Home Stretch

(By The Associated Press)

The battle royal in the American Association continues with seven teams still clinging to pennant possibilities and all but last place St. Paul having excellent prospects of ending the season next month with a 500 or better percentage.

Seventh place Toledo, for instance, is just three games shy of a 500 rating and only seven games out of first place. Kansas City, in first place by a game and a half, has won only 11 more games than it has lost.

The Blues increased their league lead by a half game yesterday although Indianapolis held them to an even break in a double header, the day's only divided twin bill.

Milwaukee, a game out of first before yesterday's encounters, lost both to Louisville, 4-1 and 3-2, and fell to third place when Columbus won a pair from Minneapolis, 7-5 and 11-4. Toledo also swept its win bill, defeating St. Paul, 6-2 and 8-6. Kansas City turned back Indianapolis, 3-0 on Johnny Johnson's three hit pitching in the opener, but lost the second, 6 to 5.

When chips are down, Toledo—(P)—Byron Nelson has never lost a playoff for a major golf championship.

NEW FEDERAL TAX LAW

The one certain thing about the new tax bill which has been finally approved by the house ways and means committee is that it will satisfy nobody. In attempting to pass judgment on the merits of this vastly complicated measure, however, it is well to bear in mind that it is the product of more than four months of intensive work on the part of committee members and that it necessarily represents their composite judgment. Hence, while it cannot conform to any individual concept of an ideal tax bill, it may well be that it strikes the best average that could be expected.

At the outset, it is conceded that the measure will fall far short of raising the $8,700,000,000 in additional revenue which the Treasury had urgently requested. Spokesmen for that department estimated that the bill will bring in about $6,250,000,000 while Committee Chairman Doughton has said that the total will be nearer $7,000,000,000. In either event it will be the heaviest tax load ever assumed by the American people.

In last-minute changes, reflecting uncertainty in the minds of committee members themselves, the burden which the bill places on corporations and individual income taxpayers was materially increased. This came after a final proposal to adopt a sales tax had been turned down and after special, and apparently unwarranted, tax concessions had been made to members of the armed services. In its final form the bill, in addition to boosting the normal and surtax corporate rates to a combined 45 percent, provides an excess profits rate of 87.5 percent. This is lower than the originally proposed 94 percent level, but it involves abandonment of the proposal for a 14 percent post-war rebate, intended to help corporations make the difficult post-war financial adjustments. It remains to be seen what the precise effect of these very heavy taxes will be. Certainly, however, they will raise less revenue and will not have the anti-inflationary advantages that might have been achieved had the committee been willing to take the political bull by the horns and recommend adoption of a sales tax.

One innovation in the bill which should be welcomed is the provision for a 5 percent withholding tax in 1943, to be applied to payment of income taxes due in 1944. After 1943, this withholding tax rises to 10 percent, and in future years, if this provision is retained, it will prove to be an important factor in enabling taxpayers to pay all or part of their taxes out of current income. Whatever else may be said of the bill, this is definitely a contribution to a sound future tax program.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

Maxim Litvinov, Russia's ambassador here, is a popular diplomat in Washington. Back during the period of treaty relations between Moscow and Berlin he was looked on pretty much as a likeable chap, personally, even then. Now he's so recognized by the capital's officialdom, the press and the public generally. It also is noteworthy that the various representatives the United States government has sent recently to Soviet headquarters all have returned with the most favorable accounts of their conversations with Josef Stalin. He was represented as a ferocious old Muscovite bear not so long ago—an OGPU kind of a character, whom it was at least disagreeable if not downright dangerous to associate with. Today he's described as amiable and kindly as well as seemingly perfectly reliable.

Of course the explanation's simple enough. Whereas previously, tied up with the Nazis, the Russians are fighting on our side at present and doing it very creditably, considering their unpreparedness for having Herr Hitler suddenly turn against 'em. True, they shouldn't have been caught off base as they were. Still, it's recognized as highly desirable to let bygones be bygones as of the current juncture.

are. Under czarism, they had one of the bad kinds. Rebellious against it, they undoubtedly overdid matters in wiping it out. They needn't have been as homicidal as they were with Nicholas Romanov and all members of his family. It wasn't a principle of Communism, though. A small group of fanatics pulled it off. Communism, by intention, is an industrial sort of a thing, not altogether different from labor unionism, though an enormous exaggerated form of it, certainly. Okay. It unpolarized itself initially. Investigators like Representatives Ham Fish and Martin Dies went on trial before any other "ism" was available. Then along came Fascism. For a bit, Fascism wasn't considered so awful. Signor Mussolini was spoken of for a spell as perhaps a fairly competent workman's friend and reorganizer. It was Adolf who, breaking into the situation later absorbed Benito and tore genuine hides loose. Japan isn't totalitarian yet. All it's grabbing at is an imperial, rather than a totalitarian opportunity. Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini surely don't see it, as to the Japs. The Japs'll hop them as soon as they'll hop any white race as soon as they think the right time's come. Investigators Fish and Dies don't see it, either. Argentina's government doesn't see it yet. It's had a neutrality complex for years. I don't think Chile's got it. It has that temporary bug, but it appears to me to be wearing off. Otherwise we New Worldlings are middling solid. In Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spain has a fuhrer or duce, locally known as a caudillo, who aligns with the totalitarians, but he's wobbling. Well, as pro-war-time, this isn't so fierce. But as post-war-time? Can Russia be booked into the ultimate world? Co-ordination It's big enough to be necessary. There's hope in Washington to the effect that Moscow and the democracies can co-ordinate. It's imaginable that they can do it. They can do it so far as concern the United States, the British, the miscellaneous little European countries, the Free French, the Italians, perhaps the civilized German element, the Chinese and the Latin Americans. And the Russians, apparently. That would be a tolerably compact world consolidation. But the three bunches that are most essential are the Yankees, the British and the Russians. The Russians can't be omitted. Neither, indeed, can the Chinese. Nor can the little countries—classing France as one of 'em. Nor can India be disregarded, with that bird Gandhi. The Russians, though, shouldn't go into the discard merely because of what Investigators Fish and Dies have said about 'em.

LABOR TURNOVER

Unless they are weighed carefully—and to some extent even then—the most recent Labor Department statistics on job quitting are disturbing. They are for April, and the situation may have changed again. But the trend up to that time was consistent.

Half again as many workers were leaving their jobs, for one reason or another, this year as against 1941. That was true alike of voluntary quitting and of discharges. The first, of course, reflects men going into the armed forces and workers taking better positions. The second reflects discharges of unskilled workers taken on due to industrial expansion.

Production will proceed much more smoothly when we get the machinery shaken down so labor turnover levels off.

Diet and Health

No Basis in Science for 'Feed a Cold and Starve a Fever'
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
WHERE DID the phrase "feed a cold and starve a fever" come from? And does it make any sense? Dr. Stuart A. Gallacher, of Lansing, Michigan, has been investigating this subject and has not been able to pin it on any particular author.

None of the great authorities in medicine expressed such an idea.
Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Hippocrates, the father of medicine, said: "As the soil is to trees, so is the stomach to animals. It nourishes, it warms, it cools. As it fills it warms, as it empties it cools." He followed this up by recommending a diet for winter and one for summer. The winter diet was designed to keep the body warm and possibly the deduction from this is that "catching cold" is a winter disease and to prevent it anyone should have plenty of nourishment.

Both Are Infections
But there is really no scientific basis for what Hippocrates said, nor for the aphorism about feeding a cold and starving a fever. A cold and a fever are essentially the same thing—that is, both are infections. The idea of cold as opposed to heat (fever) is a reincarnation of the old humoral theory of disease which stated that the body was made up of heat, cold, wet and dry humors, and that if they were in perfect balance, the situation was health. If one of them got out of balance or got the upper hand, there was disease, and disease was of either a hot, cold, wet or dry nature.

Not Supported By Fact
The saying has no wisdom and is not supported by any scientific facts. It probably arose as a saying of some very conscientious grandmother—a saying which seemed so apt that it passed from mouth to mouth and has become part of our ordinary speech. The

Romance Thumbs a Ride

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE
"BILL, DARLING," said a feminine voice over the phone, "this is Claire."

"Oh, good morning, Claire!" Bill said cheerily. "I hope the picnic wasn't too much for you."

"No, I'm feeling marvelous," Claire said. "I hope you haven't had breakfast yet."

"No, I've just gotten up."

"Splendid! Then get dressed at once, and come out for breakfast with me. Mother's going to make us some waffles."

"But, Claire, I—"

"I won't take 'no' for an answer, Bill, dear. I've got to have a heart-to-heart talk with you."

"All right, Claire—but—well—what about Paul?"

"For heaven's sake, can't you forget Paul for a moment?"

"Of course, but after all—he does belong in the picture, and—"

"Well, I'll fit him in later," Claire said. "I must see you as soon as you can possibly get here."

"Very well—in an hour. I'm afraid I can't make it any sooner."

"An hour's all right," Claire said. "We'll have our breakfast out on the sunporch."

"But where's the sun?"

"Oh, I'll try to be so bright, Bill, that you'll not miss the sun at all."

When the conversation had come to an end, Bill stepped into the bathroom. He started hot water for a shave, and cold water for a shower. And as he did so he kept remembering that kiss of the day before—Claire Lester in his arms upon the shore of the little lake. It was amazing what a kiss could do to a man's emotions—how it could make him come to a final decision. And yet that's just what Claire's kiss had done to him. It had made him decide just what he was going to do. And pretty soon he would be with Claire, would pour out his heart to her—and all would be well! He began to sing softly, as he got out of his pajamas. He sang more loudly as he felt the cold water of the shower pour over his body. Claire . . . Dian . . . Paul. And himself. And today would bring everything to a head—decisions made, hearts broken or made joyous, as the case might be.

Presently, shaved, showered and dressed, he was ready to go out to

Axis U-Boats Manned by Beardless Kids

By E. V. W. JONES
MIAMI, Fla. —Ship survivors returning from the sea declare that many Axis submarines are manned by fuzzy-chinned kid crewmen of high school age.

Their officers are older and probably veterans of the bitter undersea war. Some apparently have warped minds, probably as a result of living constantly in fear of death, that cause them to commit barbarous acts against helpless seamen.

The youthfulness of some crews is looked upon by many as evidence that death strikes often among Axis undersea men. The boys are sent out to do a man's job because the men lie on the ocean floor in the crushed hulls of their raiding craft.

Seamen from sunken ships agree that some submarine commanders are gentlemanly warriors. They overlook the convention that requires a warning before an attack on an unarmed vessel and freedom from attack on neutral shipping. That is Nazi policy.

These "considerate" commanders surface their craft after an attack, inquire about injuries, sometimes offer fresh water and cigarettes, and tell men in lifeboats the shortest route toward land.

Others follow the Axis pattern: They machine-gun crewmen trying to launch boats or climbing down ladders at the attacked ship's side. They spew bullets at lifeboats after the ship has been abandoned. One survivor told of his shipmates being picked off by rifle fire as they struggled in the water.

Two crews told of a German commander who showed his skill by dipping the prow of his submarine to scoop an injured crewman, Mercere Vasque, out of the sea. He called a lifeboat over to take the man off.

The lifeboat crew asked for drinking water and cigarettes, but the officer replied: "Let Mr. Roosevelt supply them."

Some undersea marauders are decorated with insignia, one displaying a long-horned goat's head with the stem of a red rose between its teeth, another a hand of cards and still another a peccan.

A certain amount of suspicion attaches to this effort to give individual submarines an identity, however. An official has declared all may have been the same raider, the identifying insignia having been changed to make it appear that a pack of submarines was operating in the area.

The possibility that German commanders resented Italians getting some of the credit for sinkings in the Caribbean was indicated by the stories of one group of survivors, who said their attacker sailed away with a crewman on its deck waving a Nazi flag.

"They wanted to make darned sure we knew their identity," grinned Leonard Shearer of Newcastle, Pa., third assistant engineer of the ship the raider had sunk.

Capt. Joa Batista Gomez Figueredo of a neutral Brazilian merchantman attacked near Haiti said an Italian crew laughed and danced on the deck of the submarine as the Brazilian sailors struggled in the water for their lives.

And one of the oddest stories of all was brought to shore by Capt. Alexander Pope of a British ship sunk south of Cuba. He saw the submarine and talked with its commander.

"The submarine," said Captain Pope, "was German. Its commander was Italian."

Marguerite Reilly Tuesday Speaker At Rotary Club

The Rotary weekly luncheon-meeting which will be held at the Washington Country Club on Tuesday noon, will be of particular interest to all members, as it is one of the few meetings of the annual calendar for which the Ann is invited.

Mrs. Marguerite Reilly, head of the Ohio Reformatory for Women, at Marysville, will be the speaker of the day, and it is promised that she will give a most interesting speech for both the men and women.

"Women in Crime" is the topic Mrs. Reilly has chosen, and in analyzing this she divides the cause of crime into five divisions: Physical Environment, Physical Characteristics, Mental Characteristics, Hereditary Factors, and Social Factors.

Superintendent of this institution for a number of years, Mrs. Reilly has won much praise in her work. Prior to becoming head of this great reform school, she was in welfare work in Cleveland, accomplishing work in such a large city.

A luncheon will be served by Mrs. Hazel Devins, the Country Club hostess, before the program.

Picnic Supper Held Sunday at Artesian Well

Among the picnic suppers and gatherings entertained during the summer months, an exceptionally gay affair was held on Sunday, for which Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Alkire and Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Alkire were hosts.

Visiting in the cool evening at the lovely roadside park, which is a popular picnic grounds, were enjoyed after the supper.

Mrs. Edwin Lynch Is Honor Guest At Dinner Party

Miss Frances White was a charming hostess Saturday evening, when she entertained with a dinner party honoring Mrs. Edwin Lynch, of Toronto, Canada.

It was an exceptionally delightful affair for which the close friends and former classmates of the popular and pretty guest of honor had been invited.

The White home was refreshingly cool for the lovely party, and had exquisite arrangements of midsummer flowers at every vantage point.

The elaborate and delicious dinner was served at the dining table, perfectly appointed and entered with a watergarden of vari-colored gladioli.

Seated with the hostess and Mrs. Lynch were Mrs. Marion Cocherill, Mrs. Robert Thompson and Mrs. Loren Johnson.

'REAP THE WILD WIND' AT STATE THEATRE SUNDAY

NEWSPAPER CONTEST
1st DAY ART

IDENTIFY THIS SCENE FROM CECIL B. DEMILLE'S ALBUM OF SCREEN HITS!

Win quest tickets to see DeMille's greatest, "Reap The Wild Wind"

This scene is from _____

The principal actors shown are _____

My name is _____

My address is _____

For thirty years Cecil B. DeMille has been making great motion pictures. From "The Squaw Man," produced in 1912 to his latest Technicolor epic, "Reap the Wild Wind," which opens Sunday at the State Theatre, DeMille productions have always been the standouts in the motion picture industry. If you know your Cecil B. DeMille epics, here's a chance for you to win a pair of quest tickets to see "Reap the Wild Wind" as Mr. DeMille's guest!

Here's how you go about it: Every day for four days, beginning today, we will publish in this spot a photograph of Ray Milland, Paulette Goddard and John Wayne—who head the giant cast of "Reap the Wild Wind," looking through Mr. DeMille's scrapbook of hits. Each day a new page will be exposed and a scene from a former DeMille screen hit will be revealed. It is up to you to name the picture from which the scene is taken and to name the principal player or players whose pictures you see in the scene.

Do this for four days, filling in the information in the spaces provided. When you have finished pin the four panels securely together, and rush them to the "Reap the Wild Wind" Contest Editor of this newspaper.

Judging will be done on the basis of correct identifications of pictures and players. To be eligible for a prize all entries must be in the hands of the Contest Editor no later than Friday; contestants must agree that the opinion of the judges will in all cases remain final; all entries become the property of the State Theatre and will not be returned, and no correspondence will be entered into regarding entries.

Now, study the scene above! It should be a snap for you DeMille fans—it's a lot of fun, and it may be profitable! Win a visit to the State Theatre on Sunday when "Reap the Wild Wind" opens. It is DeMille at his best—which means the best in action, thrills, romance and spectacle!

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(P)—Wheat and corn prices fell about a cent a bushel today, the former to new seasonal lows and the latter to bottom figures for two months before the grain market rallied late in the session. More favorable weather for spring wheat harvest and corn progress through the critical ear-forming stage, war news and a private forecast of record yields of major crops in Canada had a depressing effect. The Seale Grain Co. estimate of wheat production in the three western Canadian provinces was 553,543,000 bushels, or almost double that of last year and much larger than the reduced acreage indicated earlier in the season. Grain men estimated that if this large Canadian crop should materialize, North America would have almost 2,500,000,000 bushels of wheat, including carryover and 1942 production, while home requirements for a full year are only about a third of that. Late short covering and buying attributed to mills wiped out early losses and prices closed ¼-½c higher than Saturday, Sept. 1.16½-1.18, Dec. 1.19½-1.21; corn was ¼-½c lower, Sept. 87½-88½, Dec. 90¼c; oats ½-¾c up; soybeans ¼-½c up; rye ¼c down to ¼c higher.

Fair Is Considered Success from Every Angle

EXACT FIGURES NOT AVAILABLE; PROFIT LIKELY

Unofficial Check Shows 18,802 Paid at Gate Despite Rains

Although exact figures are not yet available, there were indications Monday that the attendance at the Fair last week would stack up well with that of previous years.

Ray Brandenburg, president of the board of directors, said the unofficial check showed 18,802 paid admissions at the gate during the five-day agricultural and entertainment extravaganza. This however, represents the number of persons who took in the Fair; for there were exhibitors and many others who came in on special tickets which were not included in the check.

How the Fair came out financially, probably will not be known for some time. The secretary, George L. Gossard, said he "presumed" the 18,802 attendance referred to by the president was based on unofficial tabulations by Warren Durkee, who had charge of the ticket sale. He said he had been working on the books ever since the Fair closed late Saturday night but that he was still far from the end of the task of balancing them.

That the Fair was one of the most successful in many years, from the broad point of view, the directors and patrons agreed.

The impression prevailed that the rains—especially the downpour about noon Thursday, the big day of the Fair, just as people were getting ready to go out—had cut into the attendance. The effect of tire rationing on the attendance was conjectured.

Secretary Gossard said that indications are that when final bills are paid, there will be a surplus in the treasury with which to start plans for next year.

The Fair came to a close around midnight Saturday night, with another large crowd on the grounds, and everyone enjoying themselves at the various midway attractions and other entertainment provided.

The racing program this year was above the average, and attendance each afternoon was unusually large, with good grandstand crowds during the four afternoons, including the number witnessing the pageant.

Apparently the 40 cent grandstand admission held down the night attendance in the grandstand.

Work of the Washington High School Band under the direction of Paul Fitzwater, was praised by fair patrons and the board members.

MRS. SARAH WILSON DIES AT AGE OF 98

Funeral Wednesday with Burial at Good Hope

After a long life in which she saw her native Fayette County change from almost a wilderness into one of the finest and most productive agricultural communities of the nation, death came at 7 o'clock Monday morning to Mrs. Sarah A. Wilson, who would have reached her 98th birthday next September 17.

She passed away quietly in her sleep at the home of her son, M. E. Wilson and family, on Dayton Avenue where she had been confined to her bed since May 1939.

Mrs. Wilson was a lifelong resident of this county and is the last of a prominent family of pioneers which came here from Virginia and helped settle in 1844 on a farm where the village of Good Hope now stands and in her active years was well known to a large circle of friends most of whom have preceded her in death.

Her husband, the late Churchill Wilson, a prominent farmer of southern Fayette County, died in January of 1918. Some years later Mrs. Wilson took up her residence with her only son, M. E. Wilson, former county superintendent of schools, four grandsons survive: Loren of this city; Lieut. Marion Wilson of Savanna, Illinois; Donald, of Auburn, Indiana and Max, of Chicago. Three great grandchildren survive.

The deceased was taken to the Hook Funeral Home to remain until the funeral services which will be held there Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made in the family lot in Good Hope.

worth of merchandise from the Montgomery Ward Co. store in Xenia.

Grove, an employee of the store, pleaded innocent and when arraigned before Municipal Judge D. M. Aultman, Xenia, Saturday, was held to the grand jury under $2,000 bond.

Grove was authorized to make purchases of materials which the store did not have in stock, from other Xenia business places, for repair or maintenance work as a service man.

The company paid the bills and, it is claimed, later discovery was made that Grove had been personally benefitting from the arrangement.

MANY ARRESTS OVER WEEK END

Two Men Facing Charges of Driving While Drunk, Post Bond

Arrests made by the police over the week end were augmented Saturday night by a number of arrests by special police on the Fairgrounds, who rounded up a half dozen men, chiefly on charges of intoxication, and brought them to the city jail.

In addition to those listed for intoxication, Roy Lewis Wilson, Sabina, Route 3 and Chester Chrisman, city, were taken into custody by the city police on charges of driving while drunk. Both posted $50.00 and were released.

Ray Skidmore and Forest Knisley were taken into custody on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct charges.

All were to be arraigned before Judge S. A. Murry, Monday, for the usual fine and costs.

MERCURY REACHES 92 FOR SUNDAY'S PEAK

Sunday was one of the hottest days of the season to-date, the mercury having reached an official reading of 92 degrees during the afternoon, and then settling down to 68 for the lowest point during the night.

Cooling breezes aided materially during the night, however, and rainfall of .15 of an inch was recorded here up to 7 A. M. Monday.

SALES TAX IN COUNTY SHOWS SHARP SLUMP

Automotive Sales Are Chief Reason for Loss of Revenue, 'Tis Said

For the four weeks ending July 18, sale of prepaid tax receipts in Fayette County, reached $8,225.89 compared with $9,815.05 for the same period a year ago, according to official figures released by State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht.

So far this year Fayette County sales tax is about $10,000 under the same period last year, due to light sales of automobiles, tires and other articles hit by the war.

During the four-week collection period ending July 18, sales tax revenue in the state, dropped $1,119,755.77 as compared with the comparable period of 1941.

During the collection period in 1941, receipts from the sale of stamps totaled $5,279,185.65 as compared with $4,159,429.88 this year. Total collections to date last year from the same source amounted to $32,714,668.28 as against this year's $28,800,360.81, the treasurer's report shows.

In spite of so-called "curbed buying," however, three of the eight classifications continued to hold to gains over last year with food moving up from $465,756.47 to $566,402.44 during the four-week period. The other groups to move up the financial scale were apparel, which jumped from $265,872.44 to $300,972.59, and miscellaneous, driving upward from $731,084.32 to $745,193.97.

The greatest singular loss is that reflected in the automotive group, which slid from $1,332,082.71 to $408,931.38. The furniture class, which includes radio and musical appliances also hit the skids, dropping from $370,260.40 to $297,226.81, during the last four-week collection period.

This latter group, however, on total collections to date showed an upward trend, moving from $1,981,303.84 to $1,997,749.07.

Freezing of building materials is mirrored in the report, showing a loss of from $467,466.22 to $381,505.67.

Funeral services for Mrs. Walter Cockerill, who died at her home on the Centerville Road, southwest of Greenfield, Sunday evening, will be held at the Walker Funeral Home in Greenfield, Wednesday at 2 P. M., and burial made at Greenfield.

Mrs. Cockerill, former resident of Fayette County, had been in ill health for some time. She is survived by her husband, one son, Chester, at home; one sister, Mrs. Ella Wilson, of Greenfield, and one brother, John Adams, of near Greenfield.

She also leaves many other relatives in Fayette and Highland counties.

STOLEN CAR IS FOUND WITH ALL WHEELS GONE

Taken from Court Street And Abandoned in Field on Robinson Road

A Plymouth automobile, owned by E. Binkley, assistant manager of the Montgomery Ward store, which was stolen from the curb in front of the store while Binkley was at work last Friday night, was found Saturday in a field on the Robinson Road, with all wheels and tires stolen.

The car used by the thieves pulled eastward on the Robinson Road when it left the field after the wheels and tires had been removed.

Officers are investigating the theft, but so far no arrests have been made.

We feel that this will be the low price of the season for Carolina Yellow freestone peaches. We strongly recommend that housewives do their own canning this year, as canned peaches will be higher than last year.

These Carolina Peaches are just right for canning and are preferred by many housewives because of their bright yellow color and wonderful flavor. These are the same exceptionally fine quality peaches that established our reputation in past years.
